2. Replace the connecting screws on the original motorcycle brake with the screws in the installation package (Use shorter screws on the right and longer screws on the left). As the picture shows:

3. Installation steps for the right handguard: First, thread the cylindrical liner from the accessory package into the lower end of the brake connection screw, and then place circular pads on the upper and lower fixing holes of the hand guard. Finally, use the matching screws and nuts to fix the hand guard on the original motorcycle. (Note: The right hand guard is paired with 1 longer cylindrical liner and 2 thin cushion blocks). As the picture shows:
